

Valentine's DAY

What is the most romantic thing/ gesture your spouse has done for you?

Coming up next...

In the March issue

PLAYING WITH YOUR KIDS

What do you do with your kids during your spare time? What kind of games do you indulge in?

(Send in by 5 February)

In the April issue

KIDS IN THE KITCHEN

Is this something you would consider doing with your kids or do you feel that they should just stay away?

(Send in by 25 February)

Send us your views today!
The best forum letter every month wins a Kodomo Baby Love gift bag!

Send your letters to:
Motherhood Forum,
Motherhood Pte Ltd
1100 Lower Delta Road,
#04-04, Singapore 169206.

Or e-mail to:
motherhoodforum@epl.com.sg

DINNER AT HOME

My hubby wanted to save for our customary wedding dinner, so he did not have any "extra" money for a romantic dinner during Valentine's Day. However, on February 14, he bought a variety of my favourite food to celebrate ... sushi, dim sum, mango cake, sotong balls, curry puff ... He had to go to different places to buy all the food. The thoughtfulness was what made the dinner the most romantic I ever had.

- Claudia

MOST COMMON ROMANTIC GESTURES

- Candlelit dinners
- Couple spa retreat
- Beach holidays
- New lingerie
- Intimacy
- Flowers and chocolates
- Diamonds

V-DAY

My first Valentine's Day was with my husband, then boyfriend, at a small Italian restaurant. He was a poor executive just starting out in the world and did not have enough money to buy me a gift. However, the company was more than enough I thought. He however had other plans. After our simple dinner of pasta and wine, we were serenaded to by a couple of violinists. I was then presented with a bouquet of pale pink roses. Before I could recover from all the attention, he dropped on one knee and proposed to me then and there!

I was overwhelmed and I was of the impression that we would settle down later when we both had established careers. But I realised that calculated plans always do not work. I was in love and decided to do just follow my heart and take a leap of faith. And here I am now, with one gorgeous kid and married for almost 16 years!

- Clarissa Mei

